

INTRODUCTION

Nectar for the Soul

Along the pathway of spirituality, I have found that the One Divine Cause—God if you will—is only seeking our highest good. And yet, because I was not always cognizant of what my highest good might be, Spirit would sometimes put signposts and roadblocks in my pathway to point out another way of thinking and feeling that was much more beneficial for me, and for all of life. If I was running along helter-skelter, and did not see the subtle hint or recognize the symbol that was being placed before me, then sometimes I'd fall pretty hard. When I hit the proverbial concrete wall and banged my nose hard or skidded on my knees down the pavement of my own ignorance...I'd usually stop. More importantly, though, as I began to examine the wall, I'd realize that it was a wall of anger, sadness or fear that I was projecting out into the world and reflecting back as the mirror of my own wounded self.

I also found that if I got quiet, and took time to examine the symbol or the signpost, which could even be a word or a phrase that I found distasteful, it was usually a limited concept stuck in my mind that was creating the emotional situation or the turmoil in my life.

INTRODUCTION

The concepts and ideas that usher us into our adult life are often based upon the acquisition and control of outer things, such as money, glamour, power, relationships, and even religious ideas, in order to create validation and acceptance. Yet, the pain and suffering we experience is really the separation from God that we are experiencing. The spurious masks of recognition that we wear, the acquisition of material things that we accumulate, and the limited ideas that we hang on to are no more than a futile attempt to alleviate the pain of separation from this Divine Love.

On your particular pathway, which I honor and support, I would like to encourage you to proceed with an open mind through the cornucopia of information that I am about to share with you. I will occasionally use words or phrases that may hold a strong emotional charge for people of different cultures and traditions. The words or concepts we react to may be, in fact, different facets of the same diamond of truth, such as the Buddha Nature, Shekinah Light or the Christ Consciousness. “Christ” is simply the Greek word for “anointed one,” and so all three of these terms refer to the transcendent Light of God that is revealed in and through man/womankind as enlightenment flowers and unfolds. Undoubtedly, religious persecution by ignorant people has caused tremendous pain and suffering for many cultures and people, so a simple word, unfortunately, can cause apparent pain. If an emotional charge does begin to take place when we hear a word, interact with someone, or even witness a disconcerting event, then our defenses typically begin to react so that we can protect ourselves from this perceived negative influence. When this ingrained reaction does occur, then we may have a tendency to shut out information that might help us see another point of view or realize another perspective that is really beneficial for our Soul's growth.

If you feel an emotion welling up or a mental reaction occurring while reading the concepts or the ideas that I am presenting to you, I would like to encourage you to stop and take a few moments to explore what inside of you feels challenged by this particular word or concept.

.....

INTRODUCTION

If you feel an emotion welling up or a mental reaction occurring while reading the concepts or the ideas that I am presenting to you, I would like to encourage you to stop and take a few moments to explore what inside of you feels challenged by this particular word or concept. If you do hear a word or read a phrase that makes you a little uncomfortable, then I would like to encourage you to ask yourself some of the following questions:

Do you know why you feel uncomfortable?

What is the emotion you are experiencing feel like?

Who encouraged you to take on this belief?

Is your belief something that you actually feel as the truth inside of your heart or is this a knee-jerk reaction from your mind?

These are questions that you might want to ask yourself whenever you feel challenged by a situation or an individual.

Cerebral Scooter

Another helpful hint I would like to share with you is that in the beginning days of my spiritual quest I was very gung-ho and excited. The analogy I like to use is that it felt like I was peddling down the road on my cerebral-powered bicycle, rushing forward into my future. The problem was, though, that I was not taking the child-like self of creative love and joy with me. In my mind, I was so focused upon the glory of achieving the end goal that my brain was running amuck, even congratulating itself on how wise it was becoming. With this type of skewed focus, I wasn't experiencing the joy and the magic of the moment. I was still looking for something in the future to validate me and make me feel good enough...even if it was cloaked in the guise of spirituality.

INTRODUCTION

Of course, Spirit would try to get my attention and encourage me to slow down and smell the roses, which was really an attempt to get me to love myself and acknowledge the innate beauty of life. But I was often unaware of my own intensity. When Spirit finally had enough of my bullish ways, it took matters in hand. Then I could feel this joyful and creative child-like part of me that I had abandoned, running up from behind me. I would watch as this child, who only wanted to go along for the loving ride, would jam a stick between the spokes of my out-of-control bicycle. Sure enough, I would stop dead in my tracks as I skidded along the pavement of some emotional situation or relationship problem in my life.

Spirit often communicates to us through symbols, such as emotional discomfort, uncomfortable situations, broken relationships, accidents, disease and a thousand other things that you could name. Spirit only places in front of us opportunities to grow and unfold in this marvelous schoolroom of Planet Earth. The choice is ours whether or not we will read these symbols with self-awareness or simply react to them, and then shunt them aside as someone else's issues or agendas.

I also feel that spirituality can be lighthearted and fun, even in its profundity. After all, I am sure you know that the Angels can fly because they take themselves lightly. Accordingly, I encourage you to approach this time together with an opened-hearted lightness. You will find that this is not a book that gratifies the voracious mind, rather, it is a book that nourishes the delightful heart.

CHAPTER 1

The Awakening

Now is the time when God, through you and me, is deliberately awakening us from out of the slumber, ignorance and chaos of the ages past. The true spiritual self—the Divine Soul within man/womankind—is being summoned and called forth. It is time to rekindle the Divine Spirit within, realize why we are here, and fulfill our original purpose—which is to create love and peace as Heaven on Earth!

This extraordinary idea, which might seem incredible to you, is not a new one. It is all part of a Divine conspiracy and a carefully architected plan...which you helped co-conceive. And now, after aeons of dedicated preparation and time, this glorious plan is blossoming and coming to fruition. At the heart of this plan there is another conspiracy to create a new human species that will evolve to become Human/Divine. These beings of compassionate love and light will be the creators of Heaven on Earth!

Of course, you might be thinking to yourself, “What conspiracy? I know of no conspiracy or secret plan.” Yet, the unassailable fact is, you are neither the person nor the personality who sits there so comfortably in your chair and reads these words. You are a Soul of Divine Light, with unimaginable power, wisdom and love, who has been weaving consciousness in and through this dense, three-dimensional world of form for aeons of time.

CHAPTER 1

It was even before the concept of time began to subjugate mankind and rule our world that you originally descended from out of the stars, for in the distant past, the wispy, swirling void was your home. However, a new creative epoch was beginning to dawn. So you were summoned forth, as a Divine Spirit created from out of the heart of God, to assist in architecting a new world that would become the beautiful blue-green jewel in the heavens known as Earth.

The director of this auspicious plan was God the Father/Mother Divine, along with the great devas, angels, and archangels to supervise. Yet, the all-important workers and builders within this New World were the divine spirits—like your higher spiritual Self—that God had lovingly separated from out of the Heart of the One. When this grand design was first conceived, our solar system was still nothing more than a swirling mist within the starry void. But then you and your Divine associates from on high began to methodically weave elementary forces from out of the gaseous, fiery, watery and earthly elements into a dense world where Spirit could begin to enter into physical form.

This exquisite plan was designed with intricacy and precision. Why? Because God wanted to separate the Divine Self so fully and completely that ephemeral Spirit could ultimately coalesce into dense worlds of form where the evolution of god-like beings of great creative power, wisdom and love could unfold.

The Ice World

To help you understand this concept—of how Spirit merges into physical form—imagine in the room where you are sitting that it suddenly begins to fill with clouds of misty steam, representing the ephemeral essence of Spirit that is everywhere present throughout creation. Within the swirling mist, if the steam began to drop in temperature the molecules would eventually coalesce into liquid form as water. If the temperature continued to drop further, the water would eventually become crystallized into solid ice. In that moment, the steam, symbolic of universal spirit, would then be lost and hidden away within the dense world of crystallized ice or form. And yet, even more poignantly, if someone had only experienced a world of dense ice/form all his life, then how could he possibly believe that crystallized form is, in reality, steam waiting to reawaken into its primal, undifferentiated essence and return as wisps of gas into the starry void.

THE AWAKENING

In this Divinely conceived plan, the ephemeral Spirit of God would then be cleverly hidden away, symbolically unconscious and lost within form. Over time, the individualized aspects of God (like your Divine Soul that was hidden away within physicality) could then begin to awaken and, ultimately, evolve back into ever more unique and exalted glory in the Divine play of creation...even becoming gods and goddesses in your own right.

The Vessel

In this grand design, when our earthly world was sufficiently prepared, your spiritual self, along with the guardian angels and majestic devas as watchful companions and guides, began to fashion rudimentary human form within which your Soul could enter and, thus, begin to animate life. Every time your spiritual self, or Soul, descended into a physical body, it learned something new about creating and evolving life within this dark and vicious world. Over time, as each particular body began to deteriorate, the Soul would consciously and purposely let go of the “mortal coil” and ascend back into heaven...the eternal realm of the Soul. More importantly, all the information that was experienced during that incarnation was then brought back into the repository, or great library of the Soul—called the “Akashic Records.” Thus, more consciousness, wisdom and love was gained from each lifetime.

In the beginning, the Soul was fully conscious of its existence within a human form. It knew that the corporeal vehicle was simply that—an appropriated body for experiencing physical plane life. But the dense vibration of physical plane life was so sensual, beguiling and thick that, over time, we descended so deeply and completely into carnal life that we fell asleep within form. Thus, spirit was symbolically lost and imprisoned within ice.

Like innocent Snow White in the clever fable of the Seven Dwarfs, we ate the proverbial apple of sensuality and fell asleep. Now we are lost....weaving earthly dreams that have become so sensual and real that we no longer believe that we are God-like Beings of unlimited power, wisdom and love who originally descended from out of the heavens.

Awakening from the Dream

There are Great Ones within all cultures and traditions who have awakened from out of this dream world to remind us again and again of who and what we are. From out of the ancient past, stories have been told and numerous books have been written about men and women who have attained a level of consciousness that allowed them to go far beyond the average human awareness. All cultures and civilizations throughout history bare testimony in legend, myth and written word about Enlightened Beings who possessed supernormal powers and performed incredible feats of magic. Many of these individuals demonstrated an uncommon ability to heal the infirmities of the body. People with incurable diseases were restored to perfect health, and even withered and deformed limbs were regenerated by the healing powers of these Miraculous Ones. The blind were made to see again, while hopeless invalids and pitiful lepers were made whole.

Other Masters of the Ancient Wisdom demonstrated profound abilities to harness the forces of nature in seemingly impossible ways. Not only did they provide safety for the people in times of great calamity and destruction, but they even manifested material sustenance such as food, clothing and shelter from out of the universal ethers...be it loaves and fishes for the hungry masses or sumptuous wine for the honored guests at a wedding feast. Equally important, though, these remarkable and illuminated beings of love and light always displayed an inner serenity and radiated a peacefulness that went far beyond the ordinary, mundane world.

THE AWAKENING

In the spiritual and esoteric lore of our world it is generally recognized that these Blessed Ones possessed the ability to commune with God and to be in atonement with the angels of light in the unfolding of the Divine Plan for the salvation of humanity. Their clairvoyant vision into the realms of angels and Masters, along with their spiritual wisdom, gave them firsthand knowledge of the ultimate destiny of man/womankind. At the same time, their supreme dedication was, and continues to be, the awakening of the light of the Soul within all people by quietly declaring, as the Master Jesus so beautifully said; “What I have done all men can do, and even greater things than these shall ye do.” (John 3:14)

This extraordinary declaration lies at the heart of all great teachings and has been espoused by all great teachers. What your religious belief is or even if you don’t believe at all doesn’t matter, for when you slip beneath the surface of sectarian doctrine and understand the wisdom of each teaching you will find the Universal Oneness of a loving God waiting to welcome you home.

The most beautiful part of this amazing story and of all the stories of the Masters and Enlightened Ones is the promise of fulfillment awaiting each and every one of us. As a young boy, I remember reading the story about Christ and his disciple, Peter, in the book, “The Big Fisherman.” I often dreamt about how marvelous it would be to have the ability to stretch forth a hand of healing power and relieve some of the pain and suffering that I saw in the world. As I imagined the great Master, Jesus, walking

All cultures and civilizations throughout history bare testimony in legend, myth and written word about Enlightened Beings who possessed supernormal powers and performed incredible feats of magic.

.....

CHAPTER 1

with calm authority through this troubled world, while transforming darkness into love and light, I'd experience such a profound feeling of wholeness and truth stirring inside me that tears of joy would well up from within. At the same time, as I'd contemplate the loving power of the Christ, I would often feel as though a latent seed that had been planted within me long ago was beginning to vibrate once again, instilling me with the desire for spiritual truth and fulfillment.

Thereafter, throughout my school years and into college, I satisfied my growing desire for knowledge about the arcane science of healing and spiritual illumination by reading and studying the numerous books and manuscripts on the ministry of Christ and other great Masters. At the same time, in order to understand other cultural traditions and their spiritual practices, I studied the numerous books on world religions, as well as those on Theosophy, Sufism, Judaism and esoteric lore.

I soon found that the deep, underlying theme within all of these books and manuscripts I read spoke of the Oneness of God and the brotherhood of man/womankind—even though the religious wars and sectarian persecutions over the centuries have been a horrendous demonstration of lies and deception by the so-called “avowed.” Nevertheless, it became clear to me that the power of healing, both spiritually and physically, lay in our ability to be in harmony with the immutable love of God, coursing like a silent stream throughout all creation. And yet, as is so often the case in our confused and troubled world, even though the truth seemed relatively simple and clear, it appeared to be quite difficult to put into action.

I also found myself on the horns of my own personal dilemma, though, because I knew that to simply understand the subtle gems of wisdom and truth I had garnered in my book reading would not be enough. I knew that if I truly wanted to become a part of the solution to the ills of the planet, and not be a part of the growing problem, I would have to make these truths a living reality in my life. Then, like Buddha, Christ, Mohammed or Moses, I could demonstrate them in my every thought, word and deed. With all my heart and Soul, I knew this was my greatest desire.

THE AWAKENING

With this new realization growing and fermenting inside, I began my own passionate and far-reaching search for personal wisdom and power through spiritual awakening. Ultimately, this journey has led me into the depths of my own Soul in order to find and heal all those parts of myself where I have felt alone and separate from God. Only then could I stand in love and embrace the light and the dark shadows, the so-called good and bad qualities of this three-dimensional world within me, and call forth the Spirit of God that exists within and throughout all creation.

After more than 25 years of meditation and spiritual teaching, as well as doing hundreds of aura readings, I have begun to feel the infinite light of the Soul, as a cascading Golden waterfall of pure light essence, coursing in and through my being. The unlimited light of the Soul is the perfect balance of masculine power and feminine love. These two aspects, of masculine power and feminine love, are manifest within

The unlimited light of the Soul is the perfect balance of masculine and feminine love.

.....

our three-dimensional world of form through the forces of positive and negative polarity, and further symbolized in the qualities of light and dark. In your own personal spiritual transformation when the polar opposite qualities of light and dark (yang and yin) fuse and merge back together within the physical body it creates the mystical marriage of spirit and matter, which creates the sunlit radiance that is called the Christ Consciousness. This exalted level of consciousness is not a specific person but rather it is a degree of attainment or an initiation that, for convenience's sake, is called the Office of the Christ. More importantly, this is the Divine quality of power, wisdom and love within your Soul that is now awakening after aeons of time.

In this great spiritual awakening, which is so profoundly occurring upon the planet at this time, many individuals have achieved a level of spiritual knowledge and mental awareness that allows them to understand and know the truth from the masculine aspect of mind. However, if you can not also feel the truth within the feminine heart of

CHAPTER 1

Through the cleansing and purifying of the emotional body, which is so turbulent and dark within most people, the sunlit radiance of the Soul can, literally, impregnate the physical body with a new life.

love then it is only thoughts and ideas that you know in the mind and do not truly live and embody as a demonstrated feeling in your life. It is this disparity and conflict between mind and heart in our world that has created the great emotional trauma stored within the emotional body that clogs your mind with old negative emotions such as self-judgment, fear, loneliness, frustration and anger. Through the cleansing and purifying of the emotional body, which is so turbulent and dark within most people, the sunlit radiance of the Soul can, literally, impregnate the physical body with a new life. This spiritual imprint, of sunlit radiance from the Soul, begins to weave in and through the physical form and inevitably creates a divine body that is truly birthless and deathless....a living temple of light, which is called the body of Transfiguration. Transfiguration is the mystical marriage of spirit and matter, the union of the Soul and human form, where masculine mind and feminine heart become unified in Enlightenment.

Like a tempest wind moving across the planet, this great spiritual awakening is inviting you and me into the creation of a new man/womankind where we will truly be Human Divine, and thus, create Heaven on Earth. The time is now at hand. The Angels of Light and the Masters of the Wisdom, through the intercession of God the Father/Mother Divine, are calling you to awaken from out of the slumber of the ages into a new and God-conscious Earth. More importantly, the wisdom, love and knowledge to fulfill this divine promise is no longer hidden, but is now revealed. You and I can embrace the unlimited light of the Soul—where all power, wisdom and love resides within each one of us—and become Human/Divine in the healing and renewing of Mother Earth and all humanity.

THE AWAKENING

All religions, doctrines, people and creeds are being called to this Divine awakening. With dedication and discipline in your spiritual practice, you can enter into union with the divine light of the Soul, and take your place beside your other Brothers and Sisters of Light who have already awakened from out of the dream of separation to reveal the God-self within.

Being Practical

The essential nature of a human being is so much more than just the physical body that we see with the eyes. The clairvoyant is able to see subtle color and light emanating from around people, like a multi-colored Easter egg. An individual is actually a composite of four bodies of manifestation, also referred to as sheaths of energy. These four bodies of color and light are emanations of consciousness from the Soul—which is your true spiritual Self. The highest vibration of these bodies is your spiritual body, which forms the outer layer of the egg-shaped aura. In the average spiritual person, this outer sheath of the aura is approximately six feet in diameter. It interpenetrates in and through the other bodies just like water permeates in and through a sponge, and vivifies the other three bodies with life or spirit.

If the spiritual body is out of balance (which is called negative karma and a term we will explore in-depth later) it creates a corresponding reflection of disease within either the mental, emotional or physical body or all three at once. Within the less-evolved individual, the aura is tighter and more constricted—due to the emotion and fear that he carries—and so, each layer of the aura will be thinner and less vibrant in color. Thus, the full composite of his aura will be four feet or less.

The next layer of the aura is the mental body, which is the repository of the logical, linear and abstract aspects of the mind, as well as the higher intuitive and cognitive aspects. Very few people have learned how to access the higher intuitional and super-conscious aspects of the mind. In our society, we honor the logical mind of the professor, lawyer, statesman, physicist, etc. However, when the higher cognitive aspects of the mind are opened, an individual knows and perceives beyond the five senses. Then the mind and corresponding brain begin to function like a receiving plate or a computer monitor upon which the infinite wisdom of God is illuminated and revealed. Thus, all things of God can be seen and known through the development of cognition and intuition.

CHAPTER 1

An analogy from the world of computers will help demonstrate this concept. When a computer is electrically grounded and turned on then the modem can download information from out of cyberspace, which we call the internet or the web. Anything you want to know or visually experience in the world is somewhere on the internet. All you have to do is type in the internet address and the information comes up upon the computer screen, almost instantaneously. Similarly, when you are grounded and connected to Higher Source or Divine Mind, then you can access infinite information and illuminate it within the consciousness of your mind.

Through opening these higher cognitive areas of the mind, I was able to reawaken my childhood ability to see another's aura, as well as learn how to see disease in the body, review images and pictures of past lives, feel emotions that an individual is unconscious of, and more, as my intuition continued to develop and grow.

The next layer of the aura is the astral/emotional body and it is composed of emotion, feeling and desire. In most individuals, it is the largest aspect of the aura and the most turbulent part due to the intense and confusing emotional nature of our world. Almost anything you can think of has an emotion or feeling associated with it, from situational comedies on television, to the continual bombardment of sexuality through advertising, to the turbulent emotions and feelings we experience in our relationships with friends, family and loved ones. These things in and of themselves are not bad, but people often have difficulty processing so much emotional information.

THE AWAKENING

The astral/emotional body is also the storehouse for all of your old, unresolved emotions and feelings. As a young child, the feeling body developed before your mental body, and so you felt things...you didn't "think" things. The emotions and the feelings within the family unit and the surrounding environment were often disconcerting to you as a child because mother and father were often unaware of their own emotional agendas and unconsciously projected their emotions onto the vulnerable child. But the mind of reason and discrimination had not developed yet and so your child-self could not process this information. These negative emotions and feelings caused you to doubt yourself and created confusion and fear. Consequently, all of this unresolved emotion got stuffed into the astral/emotional body and, more importantly, it then seeped into the physical body where it formed a tar-like substance in your cells, tissues and organs. Over time, the dark clouds of energy within the aura began to manifest in your life as the disharmony, disease, addictions and weight problems that you experienced. They can be cleared.

Emotion vs. Feeling

There is an important distinction between emotion and feeling that would be helpful to understand here. The general term that we assign to people or situations and call our "feelings" is composed of both a positive component and a negative component. The positive aspects of our "feeling nature" are love, joy, bliss, happiness, enthusiasm, peace, etc. These positive and life-affirming feelings are the innate qualities within your Soul and, because they are part and parcel of your Soul's creative expression, they uphold and edify all of life.

Thus, when we do express our positive heartfelt feelings, which is really our inner truth, this would be synonymous with expressing our creative joy and living from the innate magic of our child-like self. In opposition to these heartfelt feelings, what we call “emotions” are really the negative side of our “feeling-nature” and manifest as fear, sadness, grief, shame, blame, frustration and anger. These negative emotions come up when we fail to express our positive and heartfelt feelings of happiness and truth.

CHAPTER 1

As a young child, when people or events in your world denied you the right to express your truth and live from your creative joy you experienced fear, grief, sadness and pain. Overtime, if you cannot express your love and joy, you will become sad and depressed which, ultimately, leads to frustration and anger. Thus, all emotion arises forth when you fail to act for the creative joy of your Soul and the innocence of your childlike self.

Why do we fail to act for our creative joy? Because someone in the world has taught us to disbelieve in the innate truth within ourselves and so we feel negative emotion—fear that we are not good enough to express our truth. The emotion that you feel is an indication from your Soul that you are no longer living and expressing your Divine essence. Thus, all emotion is an interior call from your Higher Self, demanding that you take action to express your love and creative joy; otherwise sadness, frustration and anger are the outcome.

It is this suppressed emotion that gets caught in the aura and creates the dark tarry substance that creates the pain, suffering and disease in the physical body. Equally important, though, this dark emotion vibrates out from you (just like ripples on a pond) and attracts people and events, which then push your buttons and causes you even more emotional turmoil. In the spiritual work that I teach, which is called Divine Alchemy, these negative emotions and old tapes playing in your head are released and transmuted into inner wisdom, which allows you to create a reality of peace, prosperity, love and joy.

Finally, the physical body is but a mirror and reflection of the other three bodies of manifestation. If there is balance and harmony with the spiritual, mental and emotional bodies, then the physical body will reflect the qualities of love, grace, beauty and prosperity. This inner harmony and balance will vibrate out from you and will result in unlimited prosperity, health, love and joy. Equally true, though, if there is an imbalance within any of these other three bodies, then conflict and disease will be apparent in your physical body and in your life.

THE AWAKENING

In the chapters that follow, I will discuss in graphic detail this dynamic energy field, called the aura, which vibrates like a nimbus of light around all living things. I will give examples and show pictures of the unique way in which the aura develops and unfolds to become a living jewel of scintillating beauty, which ultimately creates enlightenment and the mastery of this world of form.

The egg-shaped aura is an energy portrait in color and light that represents the four subtle bodies of consciousness; the spiritual, mental, emotional and physical bodies that were enumerated above. Within the aura the bright colors indicate the creative gifts or Soul assets that you bring into your life. These are the positive and life-affirming attributes that you have experienced and gained over many lifetimes.

However, our world is one of polar opposites, so you will also find within the aura the dark blue clouds and the gray miasma of energy, which represent the areas of negative emotions that are still stuck in your aura. These dark clouds of emotion are the root cause of all pain and suffering in your life. They will manifest as the lack of prosperity, relationship problems, disharmony, addictions and disease that—you would like to believe—you are a victim of. These blockages and negative patterns in the aura were formed during the early vulnerable years of your childhood when the discriminating quality of the thinking mind was not developed. For most people, these unresolved issues still exist below the threshold of consciousness. Nevertheless, negative emotion still vibrates out from them, just like ripples on a pond, and creates the pain, suffering, accidents and disease they meet in their lives.

You will possess a tool of incomparable wisdom and power when you fully understand how negative emotions, unconsciously held within the tissues and organs of your body, vibrate out from your aura and create the pain, accidents and disease that you meet in your life. Through the emotional clearing process I teach, you will learn how to fully harmonize and balance the aura, which will open the doorway to the attraction of unlimited prosperity, health, love and joy in your life.

CHAPTER 1

Chakras

Equally important, we will also unravel the mystery of the seven energy centers in the body called chakras. In the Eastern tradition, the chakras are also referred to as flower centers because as they begin to develop and unfold they look like beautiful lotus blossoms. Each of the seven chakras appear as a unique vibration of color and light and represents different qualities of consciousness according to each color. The unique color vibrations within the chakra ripple out from the aura and create the situations and circumstances of your reality. Just like a movie projector, your aura creates the scenes that play, sometimes all too frightening and real, upon the movie screen of life before you. When you learn how to cleanse and purify the aura you can consciously create the reality you want by focusing the projector of the illuminated mind upon the feeling images of peace, love and joy, and then watch as these sublime qualities play upon the screen of your reality.

To assist you in your transformation, I will share simple tools and techniques in order to teach you how to awaken the light of unlimited consciousness within your seven chakras and, thereby, balance the masculine mind and the feminine heart of feeling. When the polar opposites of positive and negative, symbolized in the light and dark as well as in masculine power and feminine love, begin to merge back together, this is the birthing of the Christ Consciousness, the awakening of the Buddha Nature. With patience and dedication in your spiritual practice, the aura is polished until it becomes a radiant and scintillating diamond of color and light that is a living temple for the Soul—the birthless and deathless body of light.

THE AWAKENING

Over time, as the Soul fully enters into the physical form, it creates the mystical marriage of spirit and matter. This is the goal of evolution and it creates a divine transformation wherein God is no longer ephemeral and transcendent—the physical body is quickened into a new vibration where God is now eminent and alive within form, revealed in sunlit radiance through the Sons and Daughters of Light. This is the Transfiguration of form back into spiritual light...spoken of as Divine Alchemy.

We will also explore the Akashic Records, which contain the life history of your Soul. For aeons, your Soul has been weaving a tapestry across time and space of reincarnation, entering into physical form over and over, in order to learn all there is to know about the yin and yang, the light and dark qualities, of this three-dimensional world. All of these life experiences are accessed through the Akashic Records and the crown chakra at the top of the head is that open doorway. Through the reading of these spiritual records, a clairvoyant can interpret the Soul history of an individual and see the tapestry of consciousness that he has been weaving down through the corridors of time and space.

After aeons of time and hundreds of incarnations, the Divine Soul reawakens from out of the dense world of ice/form which has kept it imprisoned and unconscious. Then a world, such as Earth, is ripe for the flowering of a new evolving life wave that is literally Human/Divine. More importantly, this exquisite possibility is fulfilled in you, because this is the story of your descent into the dense world of form and your ultimate reunion with the Divine Soul. This reunion culminates in the fulfillment of the grand experiment by God to create

For aeons, your Soul has been weaving a tapestry across time and the space of reincarnation, entering into physical form over and over, in order to learn all there is to know about the yin and yang, the light and dark qualities, of this three dimensional world.

CHAPTER 1

Heaven on Earth, as the Sons and Daughters of Light consciously re-enter into that place of peace that we once knew as Eden.

The great spiritual awakening that is occurring on the planet at this time is the heralding of this Golden Age of peace and prosperity. It is calling you home to your true Spiritual Self and into the manifestation of the unlimited possibilities of God's power and love through you and me as a gift unto all Creation.

